

Outdoor Multimode Optical Cable Manufacturer

Overview

Multimode optical cable Find your multimode optical cable easily amongst the 72 products from the leading brands (Smiths Interconnect, CORNING, HUBER+SUHNE).

Key Takeaways

Leading manufacturers of outdoor multimode optical cables include Corning, CommScope, Abalone, and Optical Cable Corporation (OCC), offering durable, high-performance solutions for various outdoor applications. Key Manufacturers and Offerings<sup>1</sup>. Corning Corning provides a wide range of outdoor fiber optic cables engineered for harsh environmental conditions, including aerial, duct, and direct-burial installations.

Their multimode cables are designed to resist UV light, temperature fluctuations, and mechanical stress, making them suitable for long-term outdoor deployment. <sup>2</sup>.

Comm

Scope Comm

Scope manufactures comprehensive fiber optic solutions, including outdoor multimode cables for air-blown microcable systems, central tube all-dielectric designs, and armored options. Their products support OM3, OM4, and OM5 multimode fibers, optimized for high-speed data transmission in enterprise and industrial networks. <sup>3</sup>.

Abalone specializes in pre-terminated outdoor multimode fiber optic cables, available in OM1, OM2, OM3, and OM4 types with fiber counts ranging from 4 to 24. These cables come with SC, ST, or LC connectors and are designed for rapid plug-and-play installation, reducing on-site labor and installation time by up to 75%.

Optical Cable Corporation (OCC) OCC offers high-performance outdoor multimode fiber cables with robust environmental protection and high crush resistance. Their products are widely used in industrial, broadcast, and data center applications, providing reliable connectivity and long-term durability.

Features to Consider

Fiber Type: OM1, OM2, OM3, OM4, and OM5 multimode fibers for varying bandwidth and distance requirements. Environmental Resistance: UV, temperature extremes, moisture, and rodent protection for outdoor deployment.

Pre-

Termination: Pre-terminated cables with connectors (LC, SC, ST, FC) for faster installation. Standards Compliance: IEC 60794 and ANSI/ICEA standards for outdoor fiber optic cables. Installation Flexibility: Options for aerial, duct, microduct, and direct-burial installations.

These manufacturers provide solutions suitable for data centers, enterprise networks, telecommunications, and industrial applications, ensuring high reliability and performance in outdoor environments.
